

TECHNOLOGY

SMA have designed and manufactured air reservoirs for more than 30 years.

Our technical experience of the process and our knowledge of the products, guarantees a safe tank manufactured to high standards.

Commercial and technical staff get continuous training to ensure the customer receives the best advice.

Highly automated production processes guarantee high productivity and competitive pricing. Welding processes are certified and supervised by qualified operators.

The testing process includes radiographic, micro, macrograph & ultrasound tests which enable maintenance and progressive improvement of the tanks quality throughout the manufacturing process.